

PRINTHOUSE BOOKS: AUTHOR; JOSEPH MARTIN

Born in Jamaica, New York and raised in Seaside, California, I joined the Navy in 1990, during Operation Desert Storm/Shield. After being discharged from military service had run-ins with the law which led me to serve two prison sentences.

God changed my life during my prison term and my spiritual journey led me to write a fiction Novel called, "Heaven's Rogue Soldier", 3 albums, producing, and singing. After prison, I learned a trade in pipefitting and on to successfully graduate from ITT Tech in computer drafting and design and am presently working for a major defense contractor as a structural designer, designing Littoral Combat and Joint High Speed vessels for the United States Navy.

I have since written and composed many songs and beats, alongside other Fiction Novels soon to be complete. My passion is the spiritual situation of Christ's church and the redemption of the lost. My books and music reflects the everyday struggles of life and the things we face as we live our lives here on earth and the need for God to help us make it out victoriously!
